Antique Appraisals by Dr. Lori

Dr. Lori reviews approximately 20,000 items a year. Unlike most art and antique appraisers, Dr. Lori has a Ph.D. in art history and does not have an interest in buying people's objects, thus ensuring an honest, ethical, and accurate evaluation.

From her education and experience, Dr. Lori writes articles and books where she reveals the truth about the world of art and antiques. Dr. Lori's straightforward and honest information often causes controversy from some antique dealers and antiques resellers. Dr. Lori writes about the misconceptions concerning antiques and scams in the world of antiques --information gleaned from the real people that she has met who have fallen victim to such scams. For more information visit www.DrLori.com.

FauxEver Beautiful - About Jay Elliott & Diane Corso

Jay Elliott has operated a successful decorative painting business in and around the Philadelphia area for the last 24 years. He has developed some extraordinary finishes and is constantly creating new looks. Jay specializes in customizing unique work for each client. Diane Corso's love for art was hidden inside herself for many years, beginning with her childhood. Today, her gift with color is being fully realized and her clients benefit for her ability every day. In her field, she excels as a colorist with excellent composition and vision. She is able to reproduce anything shown to her.

Jay and Diane's DIY presentations include tips on:

- Basic painting and beyond
- Learn new faux painting and glazing techniques
- Getting started: Surface preparations
- Re-purpose household items
