Tom Morris of J. Downend Landscaping, Inc. is pleased to be a part of the Suburban Home and Flower Show. "The 2009 show will be our first time exhibiting and we are excited to showcase our company on such a grand scale.

Our designers are seeking to extend the indoor living space to the outdoors. A grand stone fireplace will be flanked on one side by an outdoor kitchen and on the other with English gardens. A water feature and a wood pergola, designer flooring, pavers and wall systems will be used to help create the outdoor room by emphasizing both horizontal and vertical planes.

Clarke's Landscaping and Lawn Care will feature a warm and welcoming space for anyone who enjoys the outdoors and relishes time spent with family and friends. As its foundation, an assortment of natural stones frame a lush array of multi-colored and textured plants. HPK Landscape Construction plans to create a livable outdoor area filled with character and charm. They will showcase an elaborate Andes Collection Travertine outdoor kitchen, which is sure to become the focal point for seasonal entertaining and conversation. Green Ridge Landscaping has been servicing clients in and around

Montgomery and Chester County for over 20 years. "We create beauty in outdoor spaces" says Green Ridge's Gary Weiss. "For both residential and commercial landscaping clients, we utilize a variety of innovative hard and plant material to create appealing landscapes." Take a break from the hustle and bustle in Blue Tree Landscaping's backyard retreat. As you wander through the colorful garden and over the bridge, let the sounds of trickling water transport you to paradise, and imagine if this was your own private sanctuary... Be sure to stop and smell the flowers... and take home ideas to create your outdoor oasis!
